

Charles Coody Texas FCA Golf Camp

FCA Golf Camps are a time of “inspiration and perspiration” for athletes who want to reach their potential through comprehensive athletic, spiritual, and leadership training. FCA Golf Camp offers a unique blend of golf and spiritual experience not usually found at a junior golf camp. We like to say that our Golf Camp is like going to a “high-energy” church camp, but with the sports emphasis on golf and golf instruction!

FCA Golf Camp is designed to create an environment where teenagers will learn about and experience the challenge and adventure of living in a relationship with Jesus Christ and improve their skills in the game of golf. Our teaching priorities include golf as a game of fun, lifelong enjoyment, and a teacher of life lessons. The camp will provide insights for players of all skill levels.

Instructional oversight will be handled by Hardin Simmons University Men’s Golf Coach Bart Craig. Craig comes back to HSU after serving most recently as a PGA Golf Professional at El Dorado Golf and Country Club in El Dorado, Ark. He has plenty of golf administration experience and has also coached high school golf. All of our instructors are either high school or college golf coaches, or are current college golfers. Each is well grounded in the fundamentals and mechanics of the modern golf swing.

Held at the Diamondback Golf Club in Abilene, this camp will focus on helping the more experienced golfers prepare for the next level in their golfing careers. Their instruction will focus more on mental preparation, course management, and the short game in a tournament competition atmosphere.

For less experienced golfers, the camp will focus on the basic fundamentals of the camper’s golf game and fun tournament competitions. This will include grip, posture, alignment, and full swing.

FCA Golf Camp is for both male and female players of all levels between the ages of 12 to 18. All campers will work in small instruction groups with a student teacher ratio of no more than 5:1.
